This is the story of Tzili, a simple young Jewish girl abandoned by her family who manages to survive from day to day without ever fully comprehending the enormity of the holocaust occurring around her. It is a very short, quick read but the writing is lovely and with an economy of words the author manages to convey a strong sense of emotion.

~~The Story of a Life by Aharon Appelfeld - Goodreads~~
In Tzili: The Story of a Life, originally published in Hebrew as Ketonet veha-pasim, Aharon Appelfeld weaves the themes of the assimilated yet marginal Jew and the redemptive nature of the physical—both the body and the natural environment—into a tapestry onto which he inscribes Tzili's growth from lonely silence to expressive independence.

In Tzili: The Story of a Life, Aharon Appelfeld takes a time honored literary trope: that of the retarded, or mentally backward character, and throws him or her into the maelstrom of history. Tzili is such a character, the youngest of a large family of Jews living somewhere in Eastern Europe or Russia at the beginning of the Second World War.
